

Treatment Logistics Supervisor

Treatment Logistic Supervisors play a key role in ensuring the safe and efficient fish health treatment of our salmon. Additionally, they ensure our processes are in compliance with all Company standards and regulations. The Treatment Logistic Supervisor is expected to contribute to a safe, ethical, efficient, and positive work environment. Following policies and procedures, working with and providing direction to all Treatment Crews during treatment, and bringing forward issues with potential solutions to the Treatment Manager is essential.

Responsibilities:

- Provide leadership and supervision to the Treatment Teams.
- Assist with the organization and implementation of the Well Boat Farm Treatment Plan, in consultation with the Treatment Manager.
- Troubleshooting and resolving system issues.
- Ensuring all safety precautions and protocols are adhered to.
- Assist farm staff to ensure they understand their involvement in safety procedures during treatments.
- Reporting potential or actual fish escape immediately to Treatment Manager.
- Reporting to Treatment Manager if wellbeing of the fish is noticeably declining.
- Participate in loading of Peroxide both into the Well Boats and our Storage Area at Omega dock.

Qualifications:

- At least 5 years practical farming experience (5 years farming experience or 3 years farming plus additional supervisory/leadership experience in another industry).
- Post-secondary aquaculture certificate or diploma preferred.
- Basic computer skills (e.g. Aquafarmer, SharePoint, word processing & spreadsheets).

Closing Date: April 10, 2020
